Sample 1: Columbus Blue Jacket Advertisement

When the Columbus Blue Jackets wanted to increase attendance, they reached out to their agency IM Creative to develop a cross-media campaign that would be interactive and memorable. The printer working on the project was not able to meet the tight deadline with the specification needed.

IM Creative reached out to Harwill Express Press for help, having worked together for many years on a variety of projects. The mailing date was 5 days away and could not be moved because of other parts of the cross-media campaign that were already scheduled. We saw several issues that needed to be addressed so this could be mailed in Ohio by their time requirement.

Utilizing our expert resources (in house designer, die maker, post office and our client's designer) we found a solution that achieved the result they were looking for in their time frame.

The result, we worked with IM Creative to get final PDF files the next morning and were able to print, diecut, fold and glue 500 custom designed sliders in 3 days. We took the project one step further by asking for the mailing list. We were able to address, insert mailer, and apply live postage. The Columbus Blue Jackets only needed to deliver them to the Post Office.

This year we were the only printer asked to work on this project. The sample is provided for your review. 📄
